CARNIMEX

We work with nature. The well-being of our animals results in prime beef, a product we are proud of. The better they live, the better the meat, the better our business. Simple as that.

As we're in the meat importing business for over 50 years, we have great respect to traditions. We celebrate our heritage, but always seek for new refreshing opportunities to stay relevant and lead our industry.

Our goal is to become an industry leading and transparent boutique meat importer with complementary private labels, focusing on quality, innovation, animal wellbeing, and sustainability. With the support of the Carnimex team, suppliers, and supply chain we can create a unique and competitive value proposition. Something we're proud of and passionately work for every day.

Every decision we make, is based on meeting our customers' demands and their appreciation for quality. You'll find our headquarter in Rotterdam, the city rightfully labeled as 'The gateway to Europe'.

TASTE COMES WITH EXPERIENCE

Miguel Vergara Angus is a journey in search of the authentic flavor of meat that begins in a small region in the north of Ireland, where the best specimens of this noble breed are selected and then bred in Spain. Once here, they receive personalized attention aimed at enhancing all their qualities. The Aberdeen Angus breed is one of the most prized for its remarkable productive attributes and exceptional meat.

With this objective, the Miguel Vergara firm adds its expertise, taking care of all the details (feeding, handling, and animal welfare) to offer unique meat with a superior degree of marbling and unequaled tenderness. The feeding of these specimens goes through three phases:

Adaptation: Up to 4-5 months of age, the calves stay with their mothers and receive a solid diet rich in fiber and protein, promoting proper rumen development.

Growth: From 5 months until one year of age, they are fed quality fodder and pastures produced on the Baños de Ledesma farm (Salamanca) to achieve adequate growth.

Fattening: During the last 10-12 months, the diet shifts to a cereal-based regimen (more than 75% high in energy and low in fiber), designed to favor the infiltration or deposition of fat in the muscle. This phase, lasting 300 days, includes ground cereals (barley and wheat), cereal by-products (gluten, DDG, and bran), legumes (soybean meal), straw, and soybean oil. Soybean oil is added to the diet as an energy supplement that modifies the lipid profile of the meat, increasing the proportion of CLA and saponified fatty acids, and boosting oleic acid content in both the infiltrated fat and animal fat cover. This is the most important phase in terms of the final quality of the meat. The levels of vitamin E and minerals in the diet allow the production of relatively young animals, around 24 months of age, with extraordinary fat infiltration, good color, and durability due to its antioxidant effects.

By adhering to these meticulous processes, Miguel Vergara ensures the production of exceptional Angus beef, recognized for its superior quality and exquisite taste.

CENTERLOIN

The Miguel Vergara whole loin bone is a premium cut of beef, celebrated for its exceptional marbling and flavor. With marbling scores ranging from MBS 2 to MBS 5, these loins offer a delightful balance of tenderness and richness, making them ideal for a variety of culinary applications.

Customers can choose between two options: dry aged for 21 to 30 days or fresh, fresh is always with tenderloin. The aging process enhances the beef's flavor profile, making it even more intense and tender. However, the fresh option allows for immediate preparation and enjoyment.

What sets the Miguel Vergara loin apart is its versatility. Whether you prefer to dry age it further at your dry ager or use it as is, you can easily transform this cut into various steaks, such as striploin, ribeye, cowboy steak, t-bone or côte de boeuf. Each preparation promises a delicious experience, showcasing the rich flavors and textures that make Miguel Vergara a standout choice as the best Angus in Europe.
